PATTERNS

Patterns have a multitude of purposes. They can mold a formless, meaningless mass into a thing of beauty, and in the same manner, a pattern can shape an aimless uncertain person into a conscientious, refined human being. For the past year, this has been the nature of Lincoln High School's pattern.

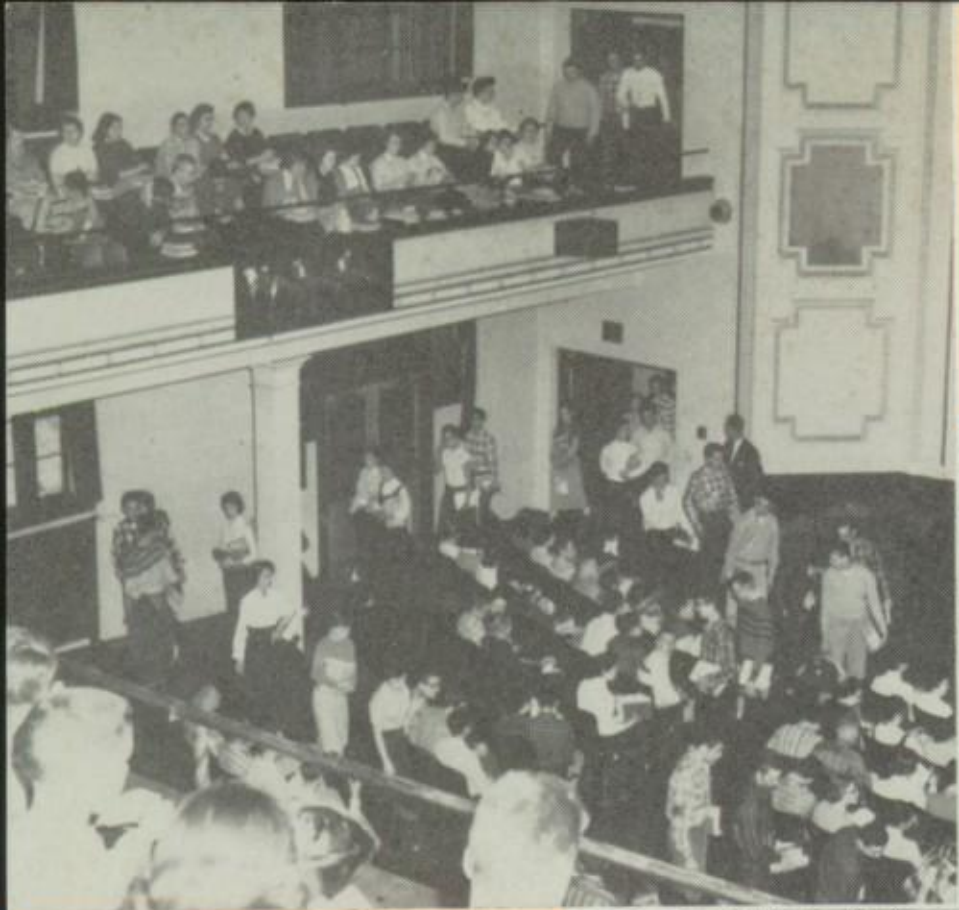

As members of the student body, the pattern of our lives has been outlined by the administration, classes, activities and people of Lincoln High School. We have gained through intellectual advancement, social achievement, physical development and by just being a part of the excitement that has been Lincoln High.

The benefits we reaped were only as plentiful as the seeds of effort we sowed. We found school life challenging, sometimes very difficult, but exciting, as patterns guided our way.

AT THE BONFIRE PEP-RALLY THE CHEERLEADERS PROVED TO BE AN EXCELLENT STIMULUS FOR AROUSING SCHOOL SPIRIT. THE RESULT WAS A SATISFYING "13-0" VICTORY OVER NEW CASTLE, THE FIRST IN THIRTY-ONE YEARS.

TALENTS

By applying our individual talents we had diversified ourselves from the common pattern. Superior scholars were afforded an outlet for their aptitudes in the fields of science, mathematics, social studies, language and business. The reward for their scholastic endeavors was graduating with honors. Athletic activities gave to some of us an opportunity of bringing honors and recognition to our Alma Mater and ourselves. Clubs brought forth the leaders among us, helped us to become better acquainted with our fellow classmates and increased our social mindedness. Theatrical productions provided a release for our dramatic skills. Acknowledgment of musically gifted students was offered through the band and choral programs. National contests produced incentive for our creative and literary proficiency.

Although we have received recognition for our endeavors while a part of school life, how can the absolute futuristic value of these undertakings be estimated? Only time's development of each nonconforming pattern will reveal the merits of our accomplishments.

GUIDANCE AND TRADITION

To fulfill the pattern of education and understanding, Lincoln High gave us a host of qualified leaders. Our faculty has done their job of presenting us with scientific formulas and grammatical rules. But more important they have molded our characters by their interest and assistance. We have also received guidance from fellow students. By lending a hand to others, we have unquestionably helped ourselves.

Although we continually strove for originality, we could not help but be influenced by long-established patterns and tradition. Pep rallies in the gym, the Ellwoodian magazine campaign, senior day, p. a. announcements, home room parties, pep hops, the prom and the passing down of the school key have all become a standard part of school life. These things may seem minor to others, but to us they have a great significance.

Guidance was necessary to establish an orderly pattern of living. The individual must learn for himself, but the organization of all knowledge was accomplished by our teachers, aware of the need to have better students to make better citizens, and in turn, a better world.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

After many years of contemplation and speculation, the formation of a jointure school district became effective July 1, 1956, by articles of agreement. The area joint school district consisted of Ellwood City Borough, Perry Township, Ellport Borough and Wayne Township. The President of the 1957 Ellwood City Board was Mr. Robert Jones; of the Ellport Board, Mr. Joseph Bodner; of Perry Township, Mr. Charles Timblin and of Wayne Township, Mr. Lucian Downing.

There were twenty-two members of the jointure, which met once a month with Mr. Judd Liebendorfer presiding. Mr. Liebendorfer was capably assisted by Mr. Lucian Downing, Vice-President; Miss Anna Czar, Secretary; Mr. Clifton Jones, Treasurer and Mr. Phillip Morris, Solicitor.

The jointure was formed primarily to furnish the best possible school facilities and educational opportunities for the school children of each district, and to improve the financial status of each district by distributing state funds on an equitable basis. Since the state made a financial inducement for the jointure, they were obligated to use these additional funds as the state designated. The jointure must have a full time guidance counselor, various specialists in the educational field, a psychologist and to improve the physical structure of the school buildings.

In the future, the area joint school system plans to make several improvements throughout the district. One of the first improvements will be to have all the students from grades seven through twelve attend one secondary school. They also plan to have a trade school for boys and girls on an elective basis. Other plans include a cafeteria in the school, improvement of the library and science laboratory and construction of a new gymnasium.

The future outlook for Ellwood City and surrounding schools is definitely on the upgrade. Students can certainly look forward to a better balanced academic and general education with modern facilities and more pleasant surroundings.

Mr. J. Ellis Bell

SUPERINTENDENT

The capable and devoted superintendent of schools, Mr. J. Ellis Bell, has helped expand and develop the Ellwood City Area Joint School District. Mr. Bell moderated between the school board and faculty. He also adjusted and assigned positions and schedules to the principals of each school. Mr. Bell managed and oversaw the entire educational system.

As a member of the community, Mr. Bell found time to participate in and enjoy many various activities, such as being the President of the Tuberculosis Association.

SUPERVISOR

Mr. Charles Barnhart, the supervisor of instruction, has taken many steps forward in the advancement of the academic standings of the schools. He was instrumental in seeing that each student received the proper preparations throughout the school system. Mr. Barnhart's industrious personality made him very active outside the school in such capacities as President of the Kiwanis Club.

tasks were performed under able supervision.

PRINCIPAL

The responsibilities and activities of Lincoln High's highly respected principal, Mr. John Shepley, have been numerous and varied. Among his important duties were: supervising the schedule of the students and teachers, improving the educational qualities of the school, maintaining good athletic relationship between schools of the W.P.I.A.L. and sustaining an amiable bond between the school and the parents. In addition to this full schedule, Mr. Shepley found time to pursue his favorite hobbies, fishing, gardening and woodshop.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Mr. Ralph Shaffer has proved to be a capable and congenial assistant principal. Besides being custodian of school supplies, he taught classes in American history. Mr. Shaffer's voice was a familiar one as he read special public address announcements. For a busy man, Mr. Shaffer found time to devote to his unique hobby, collecting pens and pencils.

JUNIOR HIGH ENGLISH

A strict pattern of developing a comprehension of literature and the proper usage of our language was formulated by Miss Giovannini, Mrs. DiCerbo, Mr. Magnifico, Mr. Oliastro and Mrs. LaRitz.

This department offered a generous amount of variety in the way they presented such basic essentials as word definition, spelling, grammar and pronunciation. Under their supervision and guidance, these principles were carried out in an effective fashion along with a sense of humor which was appreciated by the students.

Equally important to the establishment of a complete education is an understanding of the fine works of world literature. These masterpieces presented a broad appreciation of literature which enabled students to face future English courses with insured stability and confidence. With this purpose in mind, one of the most suitable of the literary works, "Treasure Island," was chosen. This venture initiated their first major study of literature.

This department produced a pattern of study, resulting in the attainment of the fundamentals that are necessary for a sound English foundation.

SENIOR HIGH ENGLISH

In a more intense study, senior high students enjoyed a pattern of grammatical rules and world literature which carried them farther into the realm of adulthood. Under the supervision of Mr. Brown and Mr. Taylor, Sophomores experienced a radical change in the pattern of their work, which was brought to a close by Shakespeare's world-famous "Julius Caesar."

Well-known works of American literature occupied most of the Junior's year. "The House of Seven Gables," along with the Shakespearian masterpiece, "Hamlet," as presented by Mrs. McKinney and Mr. Latimer, will remain a vivid high school memory in the minds of the students.

A general review of knowledge in English was undertaken by Seniors. The study of vocabulary, spelling and grammar as taught by Miss Cresswell and Miss Douglass completed the English requirement. Highlights of the year included the study of their third Shakespearian work, "Macbeth," and original literary attempts in the form of poems and essays, which were submitted for national judging competition.

SCIENCE

The Freshmen came in contact with general science, which opened the field of scientific thinking. Mr. Raschella's and Mr. Knox's treatment of the subject encouraged their students to pursue the science courses.

Biology, as taught by Mr. King and Mr. Williams, presented to the Sophomores the study of living organisms. One highlight of this course was the dissection of the frog. The more advanced course of physics, the study of energy and its changes, was introduced to the Juniors. A memorable phase of Miss McKnight's physics course was the individual projects in electricity.

Practical science, emphasizing application of physical laws, was offered under the supervision of Mr. Wallace. Chemistry was the final step of science in Lincoln High. In Mr. Gill's lecture periods and laboratory classes Seniors learned the "how's and why's" of chemistry.

MATHEMATICS

The technical advances produced through mathematics are exemplified in the modern mode of living.

To gain the proper foundation for advanced mathematics, Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Mitchell taught the eighth graders the fundamentals of mathematics and elementary algebra. The absorbing study of algebra I and II was enhanced by the interesting manner in which Mr. Wilson presented the course. Learning the patterns of plane figures occupied much of the Sophomore's time. Mr. Keller and Mr. Smith made the course pleasurable by applying their knowledge of plane geometry in the classroom.

General mathematics was compulsory for any Senior who had not taken any high school mathematics courses. The study of solid geometry and trigonometry opened new doors to science and engineering careers and taught the students the basis for advanced studies.

COMMERCIAL

The preparation of students for the business world was the main concern of the commercial department. Students made their first contact in this field through such subjects as Mr. Canterna's salesmanship and consumer education or business and typing exploratory or penmanship and spelling.

Proper training in shorthand and typing, essentials for competent secretarial prospects, were expertly handled by Mrs. Charles, Miss Cotton and Miss Sovalo. The office practice class presented an "on the job" atmosphere with its instruction and use of dictaphones, calculators, adding machines and duplicators. Proficiency in all commercial subjects was increased because excellent opportunities were given to practice the skills already learned.

Bookkeeping gave the students the basic principles of accounting and encouraged some to enter the field of business administration. Teaching the difference between debits and credits was the task of Miss Wooster. Economics and business law as taught by Dr. Zahniser supplemented the skill subjects and helped the students to gain a fuller understanding of the business world.

ART

The art department of Lincoln High was divided into two sections. The fine arts department was headed by Mr. Jinar. Beginners were interested in learning the fundamentals of painting. Students who desired exacting knowledge in the techniques of painting in water colors and oil paints found advanced arts beneficial.

The craft department, headed by Mr. Bodensky, taught the students to work in plastics, leather and metals. The students who enjoyed their first taste of creative crafts had an opportunity to elect advanced crafts.

MUSIC

Music played an essential role in the pattern of everyday life in Lincoln High. The auditorium resounded with voices busily preparing for concert time, while in the band room was heard the diligent practice which produced excellent performances throughout the year.

Music appreciation classes were eagerly consumed by junior high students. Under the careful supervision of our three qualified instructors, Mr. Gehm, Mr. Love and Mr. Weinstein, students gained knowledge as well as enjoyment from their music classes.

LANGUAGES

The scholastic pattern was broadened and depth was given to our mental interests by the Lincoln High language department, which included Latin, French and Spanish. Latin, the basis of all languages, was taught by Mr. H. F. Wilson. Emphasis was placed on the study of Roman history and great historians. The essentials of grammar were also included.

The French masterpieces of literature along with the basis of French grammar were capably taught by Mrs. Cole. Students were concerned with the French way of doing things. Spanish, presented by Mrs. Brooks, was comprised of conversations, translations and writings. These courses gave a better understanding of foreign cultures, customs and traditions and enriched the lives of every language student.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Learning the history of our nation, the geography of the globe and the psychology and sociology of our modern world was the purpose of the social studies department.

Beginning with geography, taught by Mr. Rogers, a view of the various peoples of the world and their surroundings was presented. The study of civics under Mr. Boschini and Mr. Reese gave the Freshmen a better understanding of citizenship and our government.

Awareness of the hardships in the formation of civilization was expressed through world history classes taught to the Sophomores by Miss LaRitz. The Juniors were given a detailed study of American history under the direction of Mr. Flinner and Mr. Shaffer, including the manner by which our liberty had been achieved and preserved.

American government, the study of citizenship and the principles of our democracy was instructed by Mr. Spellman. Sociology, the study of our environment, taught by Mr. Tarquinio and psychology, the study of the human mind, were also electives for the Juniors and Seniors. Depicting man's place in modern society was the general pattern ably followed by the social studies department.

HEALTH

The pattern for a healthful and wholesome life was formed for each student in Lincoln High by the health department. The importance of personal hygiene in everyday living was stressed emphatically in various ways. The course included the study of the systems and parts of the human body, home nursing and good grooming. These teachings were the foundation of the continual system of learning to live and living to learn, with ambition and desire.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The development of the student mentally and physically was well accomplished by the physical education department. Gym classes were held twice weekly encouraging students to engage in volleyball, basketball and an added attraction, square dancing. Mr. Ansell and Miss Kuben kept charts to measure the patterns of growth in height and weight periodically. Co-operation and good sportsmanship were endowed to each individual by these classes.

LIBRARY

The library served as an indispensable source in gaining material for panel discussions, debates, reports and themes, and obtaining books for book reports. Mrs. Anderson, librarian, helpfully aided the students in the acquisition of desired material.

GUIDANCE

Due to the fine counseling of Miss Craig, many Seniors were started happily on the path to success. The sight of college catalogues, employment charts and appointment reminders were a familiar scene in her well-known second floor office.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

To develop speaking ability and diminish our self-consciousness was the goal of the public speaking course. Miss Lostetter taught the value of self-expression and speaking with ease. Sales talks, hobby reviews and specialized topics assisted in patterning our social outlook.

SAFE-DRIVING

Learning was a pleasure in this valuable six-week course. Conscientious and alert drivers were the products of Mr. Newton's daily training. Driving took on a fuller and more essential meaning as students were instructed in its fundamentals.

MARJORIE LOSTETTER—B. A., Westminster College; speech, world history; sponsored Senior Dramatic Club.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

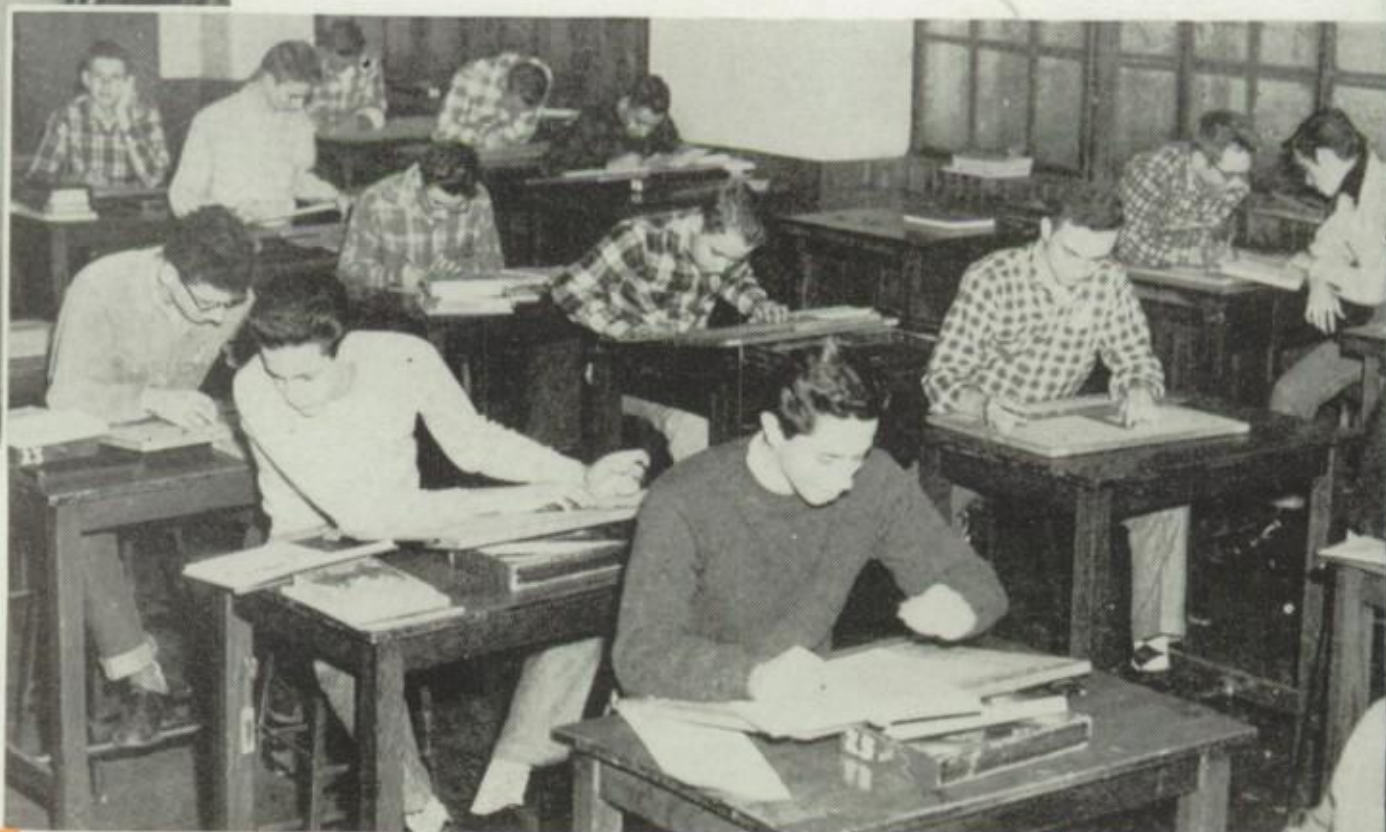

Learning to interpret patterns so creative ability could be put to use was the purpose of the industrial arts department. Taught by Mr. Hawke and Mr. Stewart, this department offered mechanical drawing as well as wood, tin and metal shop. After following the routine school schedule, students found the courses very stimulating and it presented them an energy release through manual labor.

The department provided the students with modern safety machinery and tools, thus enabling them to achieve perfection in their work. The instructors emphasized the correct usage of the safety of the students. The year ended with the completion of projects usable in the home and the gain of much understanding of manual skills.

THE BUILDING OF USEFUL PROJECTS AND THE EXPERIENCE OF HANDLING MACHINERY WERE THE MAJOR POINTS OF INTEREST IN INDUSTRIAL ARTS.

DOMESTIC ARTS

The domestic arts department of Lincoln High School gave many girls the opportunity to become more skilled in home economics. Food preparation in regard to diet and nutrition was Miss Jackson's basis of instruction in the cooking room. In Mrs. Bamford's sewing classes, the girls not only became better seamstresses but also added to their wardrobes. These courses prepared the students for better living in future years.

SECRETARIES

The tremendous amount of paper work necessary for a properly functioning school system was handled by Miss Amalong, Miss Dobinski, Miss Mancini, Mrs. Scrivo and Mrs. Seaburn. Assigned duties, including the typing of records, reports and correspondence were capably executed. The transferring of senior grades to colleges and schedule arrangements were some of their many responsibilities. Because of their skillful management and efficiency, they contributed much to the smooth organized manner in which Lincoln High School operated.

EDITH SHREMP—R. N.— Elizabeth Steele Magee Hospital; school nurse.

LOIS WEST—R. N., Presbyterian Hospital; University of Pittsburgh; assistant school nurse.

MEDICAL

The service of the medical department was to keep the Lincoln High students in good health. This was carried out by ruling that a student absent due to illness must be checked by the school nurses before returning to classes. Medical assistance was provided for all students during the course of the day. Thorough physical and dental examinations were given to the Freshman and Junior Classes and careful records of each student's medical history were kept. This department made possible the administration of the Salk vaccine which was received by the majority of the student body. Through the untiring efforts of Dr. Palatka, school doctor, and Dr. Plunkett, school dentist, students were physically fit to enjoy the vigorous activities of each school day.

MINOR AILMENTS WERE TREATED BY THE COMPETENT NURSING STAFF WITH THE AID OF MODERN EQUIPMENT.

NEW TEACHERS

Mrs. Scott took over chemistry classes during the second semester sick leave of Mr. Gills. Mrs. Scott, an alumnus of Lincoln High School, received her Bachelor of Science degree from Pennsylvania State University. Through fascinating laboratory experiments, enlightening class discussions and an interest in new scientific ideas, Mrs. Scott brought an enjoyable type of learning to her students.

Mr. Tetemanza stepped into the capacity of a junior high social studies instructor during the sabbatical leave of Miss Chambers. He was a graduate of Geneva College where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. Mr. Tetemanza's approach to the social studies field brought student appreciation to his classes. He made the study of American history fascinating and easily understood.

GLENN TETEMANZA—B. A., Geneva College; history, civics.

MAINTENANCE

The maintenance department kept the patterns of Lincoln High consistent by their around-the-clock vigilance. These industrious workers kept the classrooms clean, the halls spotless and prepared the school for each day's activities. They beautified the campus lawn with their many hours of hard work: seeding, sprinkling and cutting the grass. The manner in which they kept school walks free from snow and debris made school life more pleasant for the faculty and students. Keeping the heating system functioning properly was a major part of their winter routine. Often unnoticed, the repairs handled during the summer made the school year run smoothly. Mr. Burrows, maintenance engineer, competently headed this department for the Ellwood City Area Joint Schools.

SENIORS

Having demonstrated the qualities of leadership and originality in a busy, successful junior year, the Class of 1957 was prepared to meet the responsibilities of Seniors. The year opened with an election patterned after a presidential convention resulting in the selection of the class officers: President, James Meehan; Vice-President, James Ammeen; Secretary, Elizabeth Reynolds; Treasurer, Eleanor Rockyvich. These officers and class sponsor, Mr. Reese, guided the class activities and projects.

In a colossal magazine sales campaign held to raise money for the support of the yearbook, the Seniors totaled $13, 252. 87, the profits of which were used in the production of the Ellwoodian.

Again setting a precedent, the Senior Cabinet was organized. This group consisted of two representatives from each home room and the class officers. The cabinet members formulated tentative arrangements for all senior enterprises.

Pep hops and pep rallies to maintain school spirit were endeavors continued throughout the year. A memorable phase for all Seniors was the first homecoming celebration. The male members of the class nominated nine girls for the Homecoming Queen and Betsy Reynolds was elected to reign.

Senior Day was next on the list of events and proved to be fun packed and exciting. On March 15, the Seniors went all out to provide the school with a gala affair in carnival form. Games, refreshments, entertainment and an auction were carried out in a circus atmosphere. Another achievement was the senior class play, "Harvey," presented on April 25 and 26. This production was a rollicking triumph.

The senior dinner, senior assembly, Baccalaureate and Commencement climaxed a year of pleasant and hard-earned memories.

SPONSOR

The class of 1957 has sponsored a great number of profitable and enjoyable activities. It is doubtful that these endeavors would have been quite so successful without the supervision of the class sponsor, Mr. Reese.

During the past two years Mr. Reese has been a counselor and friend to the entire Senior Class. Always willing to contribute his own time and energy, he has governed the pattern of all class projects with a firm but kind hand.

Mr. Reese has gained the respect and admiration of those who worked with him. The Seniors will always remember his witty remarks, optimistic attitude and immeasurable assistance.

In Memoriam

JUDITH MCKIM

(March 23, 1939—October 2, 1955)

The Senior Class cannot help but remember one of their outstanding classmates, Judith McKim, whose span of life was so brief. Judith ranked high in her class scholastically, was very active in extracurricular activities and was musically proficient.

An emptiness was left in the hearts of both the faculty and students by Judith's early departure. Now and through the years the memory of Judith's captivating personality will always linger with the graduates of 1957.

Senior recognition day memories rated tops.

Tune—"A HOUSE WITH LOVE IN IT"

Our final year has passed,
dear Lincoln High.
Through all our memories is echoed our goodbye.
The tenderness you've shown
The joys that we've all known
Have given us a school that we may call our own.

Although our paths may lead us far from you
Our love, undying, shall remain forever true.
And as we seek our place in all eternity,
Our hearts will also seek a place with thee.

SENIOR DAY

On November 30, 1956, the Three Blind Mice, Santa Claus, human bats and other such imaginative characters were seen roaming the third floor hall. The senior homerooms were no longer ordinary classrooms but playgrounds and dreamlands. Even an African jungle had dominated the scene. This was Senior Day.

Each senior home room had selected a popular song title for its theme and had adorned its room with decorations suggesting this topic. All Seniors wore costumes patterned after their homeroom's song.

Classes were forgotten and the day's agenda included skits by each home room, home room parties, square dancing and a talent show.

As the day concluded the Seniors found themselves with another cherished memory of their days at Lincoln High.

The Junior Class concluded the year with immeasurable success. Under the capable leadership of their officers: Karl Schwenk, President; Jerry Dinley, Vice-President; Lynda Harris, Secretary; Frances Folino, Treasurer and Mr. Brown, Sponsor, they completed many profitable projects.

Their first act as an organized class was to establish various committees, which in co-operation with the Junior Cabinet, composed of the presidents and vice-presidents of the home rooms, planned the class activities for the year. The Junior Class initiative was introduced with the selling of blue and white "pep dolls" and "beanies." In order to promote school spirit for the football games they originated a card section. Uniting with the Senior Class they sponsored pep hops in the gym on many Friday nights. An important endeavor was the Junior Class play, "December Bride," and once more the class excelled. Next on their agenda was the Junior Class bake sale. This event was held at Yahn-Jones Hardware Store.

Beginning early in January the Juniors started preparing for their most prominent venture, the prom. Honoring the Senior Class of 1957, it was entitled "Roman Holiday" and held on May 24th. The decorations displayed how diligently the Juniors had worked to make this a night to remember.

Although busily promoting school spirit and working on lucrative projects, the Juniors managed to maintain their academic standards. Thus in diversified ways the Juniors prepared to be future leaders of Lincoln High.

SOPHOMORES

Still anxiously awaiting their turn for the leadership of Lincoln High, the Sophomore Class displayed their abilities in many fields. Although they were not yet organized, they demonstrated a form of class unity in everything they attempted.

The Sophomores were the senior members of several clubs and demonstrated their ability for leadership by successfully leading the clubs to a profitable completion of all their activities.

On March 8, under the sponsorship of Mr. Taylor, the sophomore dance, entitled "Sophomore Serenade," was held in the Lincoln gym.

This was the first time in a number of years that the Sophomores, as an unorganized class, had successfully sponsored a dance for the enjoyment of the entire student body.

The Sophomore Class was permitted to elect the course of study which they believed would be the pattern upon which their future lives would be fashioned. The class did not allow their academic standard to be lowered by their active participation in a variety of extra-curricular functions. With the closing of school the sophomore group looked forward to the new school year when they would be officially organized.

The Freshmen imprinted their footsteps in the halls of Lincoln High with confidence in themselves and their future years of high school.

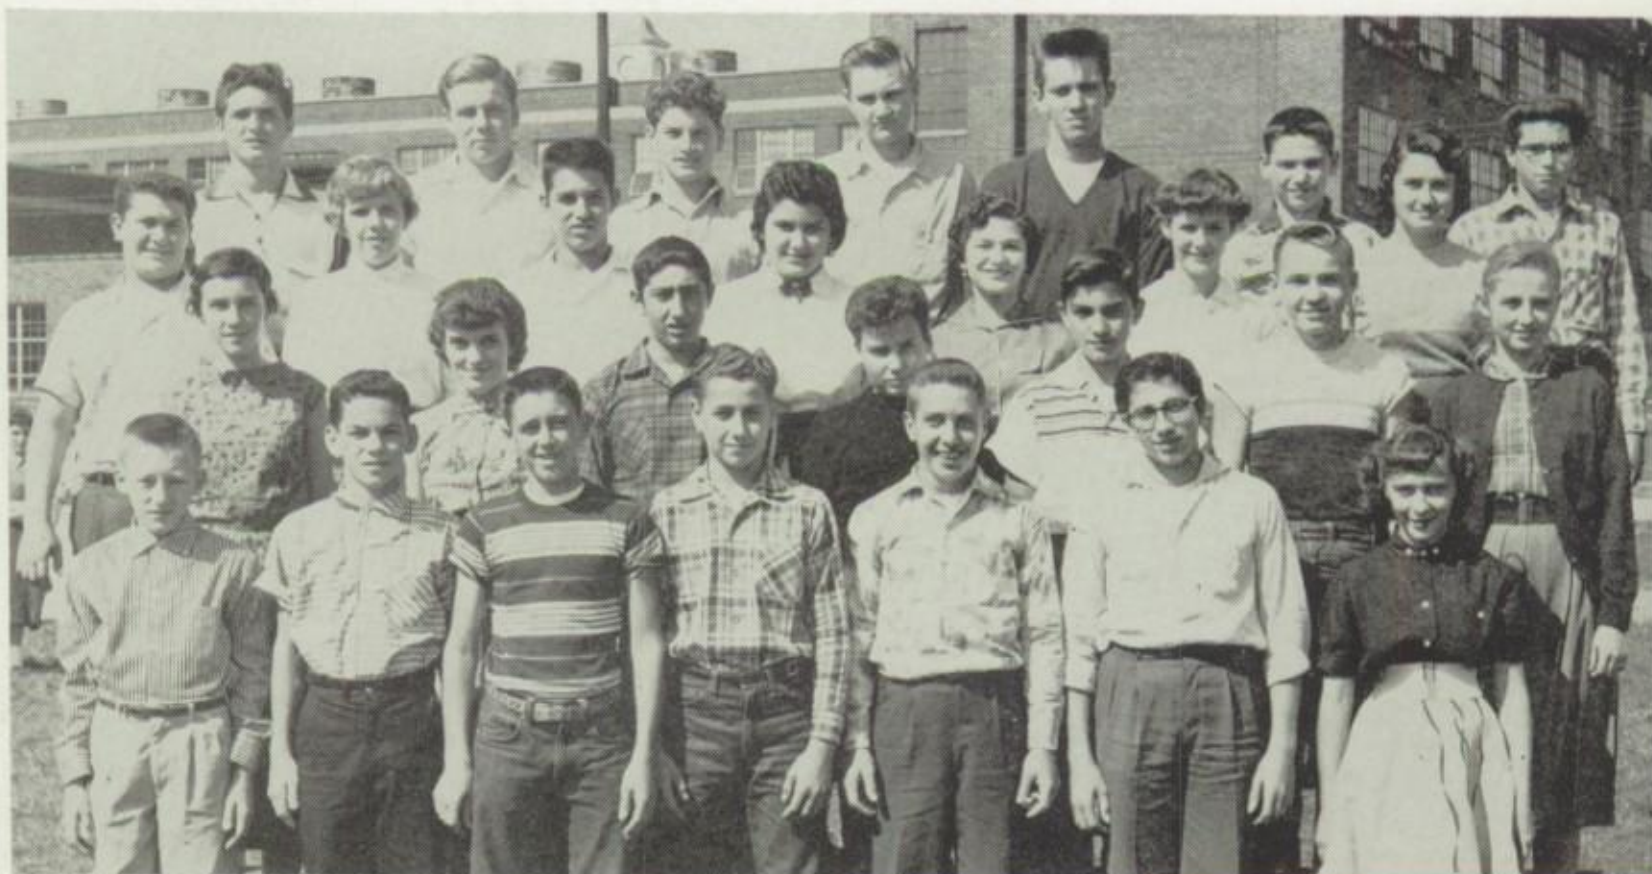

As beginners they showed unlimited capabilities for leadership in both curricular and extracurricular activities. Early in the school year the Freshman Class held a dance in the gym for all of its members. The affair was well planned and excellently attended.

The Freshmen were not plagued with the problem of leisure time because their basis of future learning was being molded.

A variation in the patterning of our lives was attained through participation in social activities. Whether we felt the desire to express ourselves through dramatics, create through literary and artistic functions, to lead through governmental bodies or to just serve others through service organizations, we became individualized yet more social through our fellowship with others.

ELLWOODIAN

A staff of twenty-nine students, guided by Miss McKnight and Mr. Latimer, was busily occupied with varied yearbook responsibilities and meeting all important deadlines. Much time was devoted to reach their ultimate goal, a well accepted yearbook. Many nights were consumed in mounting pictures, arranging names, writing and editing. The essential typing and business activities were supervised by Miss Wooster.

The Senior Class met the magazine campaign challenge with such overwhelming enthusiasm that the yearbook staff felt they had to do an outstanding job. Many a frenzied editor sometimes doubted his patience, but finally the finished product appeared, revealing the effort well spent.

ECHO

Enlightening the student, teacher and parent on school affairs was the objective of the Lincoln Echo staff. A new policy was created by the 1957 staff. The true newspaper style, in co-operation with the Ellwood City Ledger, was adopted along with the regular newsprint. Reporters scouted for student opinion, fashion news and club activities. After several weeks of gathering the news, the reporters typed it and delivered it to Mr. Oliastro, staff sponsor, for approval by the section editors. The students themselves prepared the edition in readiness for mass reproduction and distribution to the anxious subscribers.

JUNIOR STUDENT COUNCIL

The Junior Student Council gave junior high students an opportunity to assist with some senior high activities and offered them a taste of leadership. Their sponsor, Miss Craig, worked along with Thomas Demas, President; Anthony Agostinelli, Vice-President; Phyllis Rocco, Secretary and Nick Frisk, Treasurer; to oversee projects and campaigns to better the school life in junior high.

The Junior Student Council had many diversified and helpful undertakings, such as providing emergency clothing and supplies for deserving Lincoln students, planning and taking charge of registration, ushering on Parents' Night and sending get-well cards to students and faculty. They also planned and supervised the Summer Orientation Program for new freshmen students.

SENIOR STUDENT COUNCIL

To develop the most worthy traits of our school—truths, honor, duty and scholarship; to encourage student initiative and participation for the betterment of Lincoln High School was the Senior Student Council motto. This purpose patternized the Student Council as they sponsored campaigns and projects for the improvement of school conditions. They sent Congratulatory-O-Grams for outstanding accomplishments, held a mock presidential election and in co-operation with the homerooms gave a Merry Christmas to twenty-three needy children.

Senior Student Council was composed of representatives from each homeroom and the officers: Betsy Reynolds, President; James Navolio, Vice-President; Charlotte Hall, Secretary; Carol Hughes, Treasurer and Miss Craig, Sponsor.

SPANISH CLUB

An enriched conception of Spanish customs, traditions and ideas was obtained by the members of El Club Espanol. Ably led by the officers: President, John Agostinelli; Vice-President, R. Richards; Secretary, Anita Florie; Treasurer, Carole Gardner and the Sponsor, Mrs. Brooks; the club worked together in a systematic fashion.

The year commenced with the formal initiation of the new members, followed by their customary party. One interesting meeting consisted of a showing of slides and talk by Mrs. Sartwell on the customs and traditions of the Mexican people.

The main venture was "El Baile Feliz Navidad" ("The Merry Christmas Ball"). The dance was held on December 21, transforming the gym into a winter wonderland. The highlight was the crowning of La Princesa, Marion Agostino, who was attended by Diane Laughlin and Anita Florie.

FRENCH CLUB

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Cole, the French Club, consisting of Junior and Senior French students, undertook and participated in several yearly activities. One of the main events was their tureen dinner, at which they sang French songs and were entertained by the "Four Phonies," a student vocal quartet, consisting of Judd Liebendorfer, Arthur Maine, Ronald Mazzano and James Meehan. Next on the agenda was the club pep rally, in which French Club posters and banners displayed spirit and pep. Frequent after-school meetings were held, opening suggestions for projects to the club members. The new officers were elected in May before the closing of school. The officers-elect were then introduced to club responsibilities by the retiring officers: Margaret Cherol, President; Arthur Maine, Vice-President; Joan Powell, Secretary; Nancy Christy, Treasurer.

ART CLUB

The artists of Lincoln High School had a busy year with their varied and interesting activities. Art Club members, in co-operation with Ellwood City merchants, decorated the store windows in the main business section by painting festive Halloween scenes on them. They made attractive blue and white E. C. H. S. pennants to help boost school spirit for the football games. At Christmas time they aided a needy family by donating food and a Christmas tree.

The officers: President, Eleanor Rockyvich; Vice-President, Cecelia Yukner; Secretary, Diana Biordi; Treasurer, Grace Pazzint and Sponsors, Mr. Jinar and Mr. Bodensky, planned the schedule of the Art Club so that the members would be able to have informative speakers at some of their meetings. The club arranged visits for interested members to colleges specializing in art education.

KEY CLUB

It seemed that the pattern of Key Club this year was to be continually engaged in numerous beneficial exploits. They sold refreshments at athletic events, ushered at the football games, basketball games and choral concerts and donated money to various charitable organizations, to name only a few of their good deeds.

Rousing enthusiasm for the New Castle game, a pep rally bonfire was held by the Key Club and planned by their officers: President, James Ammeen; Vice-President, James Meehan; Secretary, Richard Charles; Treasurer, Donald Manzo; Chaplain, Elliott Hall; Lieutenant Governor, Arthur Maine and their sponsor, Mr. Flinner.

A highlight of Key Club activities was the presentation of a picture of Abraham Lincoln to the school which was accomplished in the annual Key Club assembly, where the creative talents of the club were portrayed in a delightful half-hour program. The "Key Klub Kotillion," the dance held in March, climaxed an eventful and prosperous year.

HI-Y

The purpose of the Hi-Y was to create, maintain and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character. This was the pattern the Hi-Y followed.

Their main project this year was the "Futura-ma Ball" held in conjunction with the Tri-Hi-Y. The ball, which was the first dance of the year, was skillfully decorated in pink and purple woven into a modern design.

Sponsored by Mr. Raschella and Mr. Smith and led by the officers: President, Richard Ferrante; Vice-President, Jackson Spielvogel; Secretary, Terry Williams; Treasurer, James Meehan; Chaplain, Michael Barletta and Scribe, James Fox; the Hi-Y boys worked very robustly throughout the year helping others. These boys sold refreshments at the football and basketball games, which provided money to be donated to many different charities. This program was in keeping with their principles.

JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

The Junior Dramatic Club was very active this year in presenting numerous plays for the assemblies of Lincoln High. The plays, consisting of varied plots, were "Enter the Hero," "If Girls Ask Boys for Dates" and "He Tried with His Boots On."

The sponsor, Mrs. LaRitz, and the officers: Vicki Folino, President; Ethel Greenberg, Vice-President; Sondra Mariotti, Secretary and Mary Ann Conti, Treasurer; arranged the banquet to close the year with the presentation of awards for the best actor, actress and play.

SENIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

The success of the Senior Dramatic Club was due to a very active membership. They learned theatrical arts and acting techniques through the presentation of dramatic productions, and in the process became better acquainted with their fellow thespians.

It has been traditional for Senior Dramatic Club to present a three-act play early in December of each year. This year's choice was "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal." Two one-act plays, "The Caine Mutiny Court Trial" and "The Recognition Scene From Anastasia," were portrayed for church and civic groups in the community. All productions were under the direction of Miss Lostetter.

The executive duties were handled by James Meehan, President; James Fox, Vice-President; Diane Laughlin, Secretary; Mary Jane Tirlea, Treasurer and Betsy Reynolds, Scribe.

One of the undertakings of the local troupe, No. 507, was the attendance at a district convention of the National Thespian Society at Indiana State Teachers College. The club was in charge of the morning devotions on the public address system. The annual banquet concluded the year.

Y-TEENS

"To build a fellowship of girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians" . . . this was the pattern pursued by each Y-Teen member.

A large membership was obviously no hindrance to the participation of each girl. This was verified by the sale of stationery in which every member took part. The parents were well included in the club's activities, planned by the officers: President, Sandra Pander; Vice-President, Glenda Weisz; Secretary, Martha Mitchell; Treasurer, Lois Alfonso and Sponsor, Miss Calhoun. In November, the mothers were entertained at a tea and "A Date with Dad" was an original program for the February meeting.

The club functions included the unfortunate ones. At Christmas, canned food, the admission to their "Can-Can Dance," was given to needy families and their caroling pleased the many hospital patients. Favors were made to make each holiday seem something special to shut-ins. Finally, the big dance of their year, "Only Make-Believe," took place. Couples enjoyed dancing, as if really in a dream, and were awed by an atmosphere of sheer fantasy.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR TRI-HI-Y

Because of its enormous membership this year, the Tri-Hi-Y was divided into two clubs, the Senior Tri-Hi-Y for senior girls and the Junior Tri-Hi-Y for junior girls. The meetings were held jointly so the newer club could get started, but after this year, the two clubs will be entirely separate.

Under the guidance of Charlotte Hall, President; Nancy Friday, Vice-President; Marion Agostino, Secretary; Carol Gallaher, Treasurer; Judy Bell, Chaplain; Diane Laughlin, Scribe and Mrs. DiCerber, who was sponsor of both clubs, the Tri-Hi-Y girls enjoyed an interesting, educational and beneficial year.

The Juniors chose as their officers: Sandy Haberman, President; Darlene Wallover, Vice-President; Joyce Prokop, Secretary; Linda Reilly, Treasurer; Mary Hines, Chaplain and Patti Prinzi, Scribe.

The rest of the year was filled with many more interesting meetings, such as the "Winter Wardrobe" style show, the "Futurama Ball," their main event of the year, "Listen and Learn," a talk on juvenile delinquency by District Attorney Reeher and "Miniature Models," a beauty contest for tiny tots. In May the Junior Tri-Hi-Y took charge of the Mother and Daughter Banquet. This dinner was the farewell to the senior girls and was followed by the installation of the officers for the coming year.

Working busily in the Lincoln library were the members of the library crew. Filing, checking permits and keeping order were a few of their daily tasks. These girls could be seen hurrying into classrooms returning library permits. When information concerning books was required, they, with the help of their supervisor, Mrs. Anderson, were efficient and precise. The work done by these girls made the library a greater asset to the school.

TELEPHONE CREW

Operating the switchboard and aiding in diverse ways in the superintendent's office were the main duties of the telephone crew. These adept and quick-learning girls were taught the ins and outs of the complex switchboard which connects all in-coming, out-going and interschool calls. On call for assistance to Mr. Bell and his secretaries, the girls proved themselves to be very capable, efficient and dependable.

STAGE CREW

Under heavy tension and stress, the stage crew constantly endeavored to produce well-timed and flawless effects. With Mr. Williams in command, the boys erected sets and scenery and manipulated various levers for lighting effects. In addition, they operated the public address system for assemblies and concerts.

SOUND CREW

Every student was well acquainted with the familiar voices of the sound crew under the supervision of Mr. Williams. They were heard regularly morning and noon each school day, reminding us of meetings and school activities. Dances and pep rallies were a part of their routine as they set up and operated the sound system.

Although their job was not regular, they were busy girls when their services were needed. The group was sponsored by Miss Wooster.

LUNCH CREW

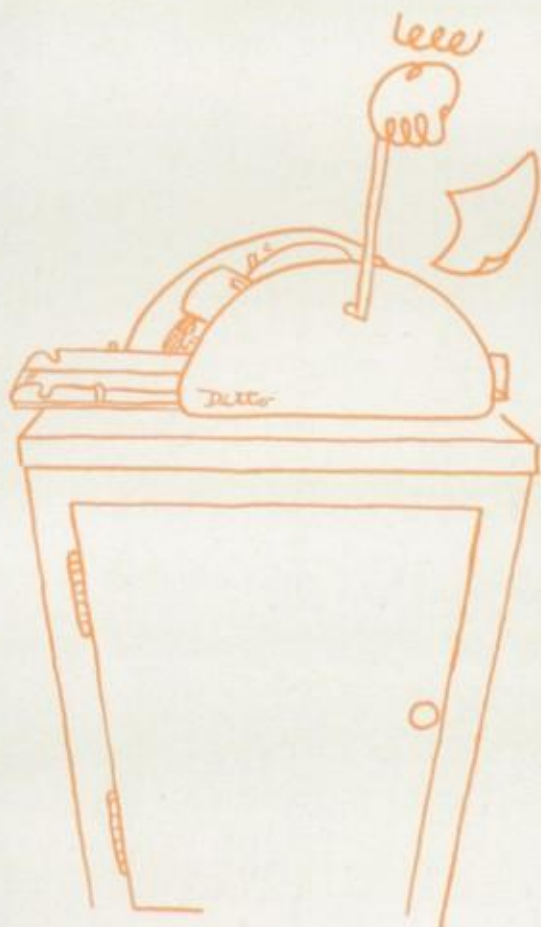

The responsibility of the lunch crew was to keep the school gym uncluttered during the lunch hour. Distribution and collection of milk bottles consumed the greatest portion of their time. Under Miss Jackson's supervision, they worked industriously to keep bottles and lunch bags from getting underfoot and disturbing the gymnasium's appearance. As a new addition to school activities this crew amply proved their worth by making school life more enjoyable for commuting students.

At the request of the school officials, they delivered interview permits and messages to the students and faculty. Duplicating, requiring much time and skill, was one of their more important tasks. They displayed the courtesy and friendliness necessary to give the office an enjoyable atmosphere.

TRAFFIC CREW

At the end of fourth and seventh periods the big rush began. At their station on Crescent Avenue and Fifth Street, the traffic boys directed cars and pedestrians, keeping a vigilant eye on straying students in the stream of traffic.

These boys demanded the co-operation at this busy corner in the front of the school. Many accidents have no doubt been avoided through their constant watchfulness and skillful supervision.

Expression, through a vocal and instrumental output, constituted the specific pattern of music for students musically inclined. As this pattern matured, we recognized its ultimate fulfillment as the development of a successful career for some of these students. MAJORETTES AND DRILL TEAM results and produced a snappy marching unit.

No marching band is quite complete without the addition of a group of majorettes. This requirement was amply fulfilled by the Lincoln high-steppers.

Four of the girls, along with the Drum Major, Terry Williams, and the majorette coach, Miss Betty Baney, attended a two week summer training session at the Oglebay Drum Major and Majorette Camp in Wheeling, West Virginia. At the completion of this course the Ellwood City group received high honors.

Competitive try-outs were held early in the spring. Through careful screening, newly-trained majorettes were chosen to replace the graduated seniors.

The football season gave the majorettes ample opportunity to display their talents. The pre-game and half-time programs proved the girls to be an indispensable part of the Lincoln High Blue Band. Parades and the annual band concert completed the majorettes' pattern of hard work and precisioned ability.

The drill team, consisting of twelve girls, was a new addition to the Lincoln High band. They accompanied the band at home and away games. Although this was the first year for this organization, they exhibited remarkable initiative and ingenuity.

Solos were not predominant in the group, but by demonstrating their flashy steps in unison the drill team immensely pleased the fans.

The Lincoln High Blue Band symbolized unification and precision during its marching and concert seasons. As a result of the group's practice, musical patterns were formed, enabling the band to produce entertaining performances for its alma mater.

The qualified director, Mr. Weinstein, helped the band accomplish its respective goals. Aiding him in these attempts was the executive staff, consisting of: President, Don Allen; Vice-President, Jerry Dinley; Secretary, Mary Jo Lordi and Treasurer, Bill Gross.

The highlight of their marching season was the combined program with the New Castle band featuring a hit parade of the top tunes of the day. Clever formations and intricate routines were an enjoyable addition to the half-time show.

A successful undertaking is never left unrewarded and thus another portion of the pattern fell into place. In recognition of the efforts exerted by the band members, the annual band banquet was held in their honor.

In order to prepare for the Spring Concert, vigorous practices occupied much of their time. The appointed night, May 10, 1957, found the band at the peak of its perfection.

The initial selection, "The Star Spangled Banner," was conducted by Don Allen. Following this number, delightful compositions such as "My Fair Lady," "Military Symphony" and "Falandria Overture" were offered.

The completion of the concert marked the fulfillment of Lincoln High's musical pattern.

BOYS' CHOIR

Distinction was added to Lincoln High's choral department by the type of singing quality which can be produced only by male voices. Certainly one of the most outstanding choruses, the Boys' Choir had a membership of one hundred ten students. Terry Macioge, President; Frank Fantone, Vice-President and Dominic Port, Secretary-Treasurer competently guided this group.

The boys drilled faithfully to acquire the prestige that was theirs. The unexcelled interpretation of "O Little Town of Bethlehem" deeply instilled in the audience the true meaning of Christmas. The festive "Deck the Halls" further proved their remarkable ability. "The Whiffenpoof Song" was presented at the Spring Concert. The Boys' Choir completed their repertoire and the year's work with a delightful arrangement of "Fine and Dandy."

JUNIOR GIRLS' CHOIR

Comprised of sixty-five freshman girls, the Junior Girls' Choir, under the direction of Mr. Richard Love, was yet another example of the musical ability found in our school.

Many moods were expressed in their varied and highly entertaining selections. Their success was due largely to their untiring efforts to make the next practice just a little better than the last.

The excellent quality of the Junior Girls' Choir was portrayed by their performance at the Christmas Concert. At this time, they presented the inspiring "Today There Is Ringing," "The Manger Carol" and "The First Noel."

After Christmas the girls concentrated on their Spring Concert selections. Their arrangements of the colorful "Czechoslovakian Dance Song" and "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel" were well received.

SENIOR GIRLS' CHOIR

The effectiveness of combining feminine voices was successfully illustrated by the Senior Girls' Choir. This group of sixty-seven sophomore, junior and senior girls played an important role in adding to the variety found in Lincoln High's choral department. At the two concerts in which they participated, they well merited the approval shown them by their audiences.

At the Christmas Gift Concert, the beautiful carol "Silent Night" was supplemented with an impressive and inspirational nativity scene. Unique arrangements of "Christmas Hymn" and "Christmas is Coming" were also presented at this time.

The Senior Girls' Choir again displayed its ability at the Spring Concert with its interpretations of the enchanting "Some Day My Prince Will Come" and the melodic and haunting "They Say It's Wonderful."

MIXED CHOIR

Patterns of harmony were woven by the Mixed Choir. The soprano, alto, tenor and bass voices of one hundred twenty students were blended to produce this group. Because of its size, the Mixed Choir for the first time was divided into two class periods and then combined for the concerts.

The audience at the Christmas Concert thoroughly enjoyed the melodic carol "Joy to the World" and the very beautiful and expressive "Angels We Have Heard on High."

The spring selections of the Mixed Choir included the popular "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face" and the romantic "If I Loved You."

The Mixed Choir officers were composed of Kenneth Hauser, President; Ben McDanel, Vice-President and Sally Plunkett, Secretary-Treasurer.

CONCERT CHOIR

Combining talent with perseverance, the Concert Choir worked diligently throughout the year to achieve perfection. The thirty-two members introduced into their music the excellent feeling and quality which gave it a professional polish. Concert Choir's activities were not limited to participating in the two concerts, for they entertained many civic organizations as well.

Auditions for prospective members were held early in the year and the more capable singers were chosen by Mr. Gehm. The results of their many hours of patient rehearsing proved that their work had not been in vain.

At the Christmas Gift Concert, the two moods of Christmas were represented. The simplicity and beauty of "Hasten Swiftly, Hasten Softly" greatly enhanced the yuletide spirit. Their annual presentation of "Twas the Night Before Christmas," depicted by an animated skit, illustrated the festive side of Christmas.

Concert Choir again displayed their superbness at the Spring Concert. Their program included the rhythmical "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad," the romantic "Come to Me, Bend to Me" and the lively "I Could Have Danced All Night." The officers were James Furniss, President; Donald Franz, Vice-President and Nancy Friday, Secretary-Treasurer.

The head coach of the 1956 football team was Mr. Knox, a graduate of Juniata College. While attending Juniata, he held a tackle position for four years. His majors were social studies and science. After graduation he remained at Juniata as line coach. His postgraduate work was done at Pennsylvania State University. Before coming to Ellwood, Mr. Knox was assistant football coach at Tyrone, Pennsylvania. In his first season Mr. Knox has established his superior ability as a head coach.

ASSISTANT COACHES

An inspiration to his players both on and off the field would best describe our line coach, Mr. Gills. A graduate of Grove City College, he obtained his masters degree at the University of Pittsburgh. The veteran of the coaching staff, Mr. Gills has faithfully served Lincoln High School for twenty-three years. Mr. Gills' classroom work was interrupted by illness at the end of the first semester. As a coach he has made linemen out of boys, but more important he has given these linemen a manly code and pattern by which to live.

The new backfield coach, Mr. Tarquinio, began his college career at the University of Pittsburgh. He later transferred to Juniata College where he majored in social studies. The backfield was second nature to Coach Tarquinio since he quarterbacked the Juniata team for three years. In his senior year he had the privilege of playing in the Tangerine Bowl. Mr. Tarquinio was honored in 1956 by being named a first-string member of the Little All-American Football team.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The patterns of the 1956 football scene were planned by our new head mentor, Mr. Knox. Seeing that the plans were formulated and hastened, Mr. Gills, line coach and Mr. Tarquinio, backfield coach, put the team through many hours of drill and scrimmage.

Staging their first gridiron battle of the season, the Wolverines played the New Brighton Lions to a tie. Bob Timmerman's ninety-yard punt return kept the Wolverines in the game. The Golden Tornadoes of Butler handed the Wolverines their first defeat of the season. The powerful Butler team with a wealth of depth proved too much to handle for the fighting Ellwood Eleven.

Bouncing back from their defeat, the Wolverines pounded out a decisive victory over the Rochester Rams. Touchdown honors were shared by Florie, Ammeen and Timmerman. The victory was definitely group effort with every player giving all of his ability. Moving down to Beaver Valley, the Wolverines dropped their second game to Aliquippa. Unable to move on the ground or through the air, the Wolverines settled down to a strictly defensive game.

One of the strongest teams in Section III, Farrell handed the Wolverines their third defeat of the year. The Wolverines lost a "heart-breaker" to Midland. Leading them for most of the game, a touchdown pass completion in the fourth quarter grabbed the victory from the Wolverines' clutches.

Playing one of their finest games of the season, the Wolverines held Ambridge to three touchdowns. This was the lowest score the undefeated Bridgers were held to all year. The Wolverines were shut out again by the undefeated Bengals of Sharon.

An inspired Beaver Falls team dominated the Ewing Park Stadium, handing Ellwood City their seventh defeat of the year. The Wolverines, for the first time in thirty-one years, defeated their arch-rival, New Castle. The Hurricanes lost their wind in the second and fourth quarters, when Timmerman carried home the pigskin for two touchdowns. The spirit and co-operation demonstrated by the Wolverine team was a fitting tribute to the coaches as well as to the entire school.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

The splendid record of the Junior High Wolverines may be attributed to the fine coaching ability of Mr. Wallace and his capable assistants, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Spellman. Through these men the youngest athletes of Lincoln High obtained a basic working knowledge of football fundamentals.

Getting off on the right foot, the Junior Wolverines traveled to Beaver Falls where they left the Tigers on the short end of a 13-0 score. Moving to Ambridge the Junior gridders of Ellwood made short work of the Bridgers for their second victory of the year. Rough and Frisk shared touchdown honors.

The unbeaten eleven next encountered George Washington Junior High of New Castle at the Ewing Park Stadium. Taking control of the ball most of the game, the Junior Wolverines hammered out their third victory. With the taste of victory still fresh in their mouths the Junior High eleven met Aliquippa and uprooted the previously undefeated Quips by the score of 12 to 0.

With the expectation of an undefeated season in sight, our fine Junior Wolverine team lost a heartbreaker to the Ben Franklin eleven. Fighting hard the junior gridders found the inspired New Castle team too much. The Junior High team ended the season with an excellent record of four wins and one loss.

COACH

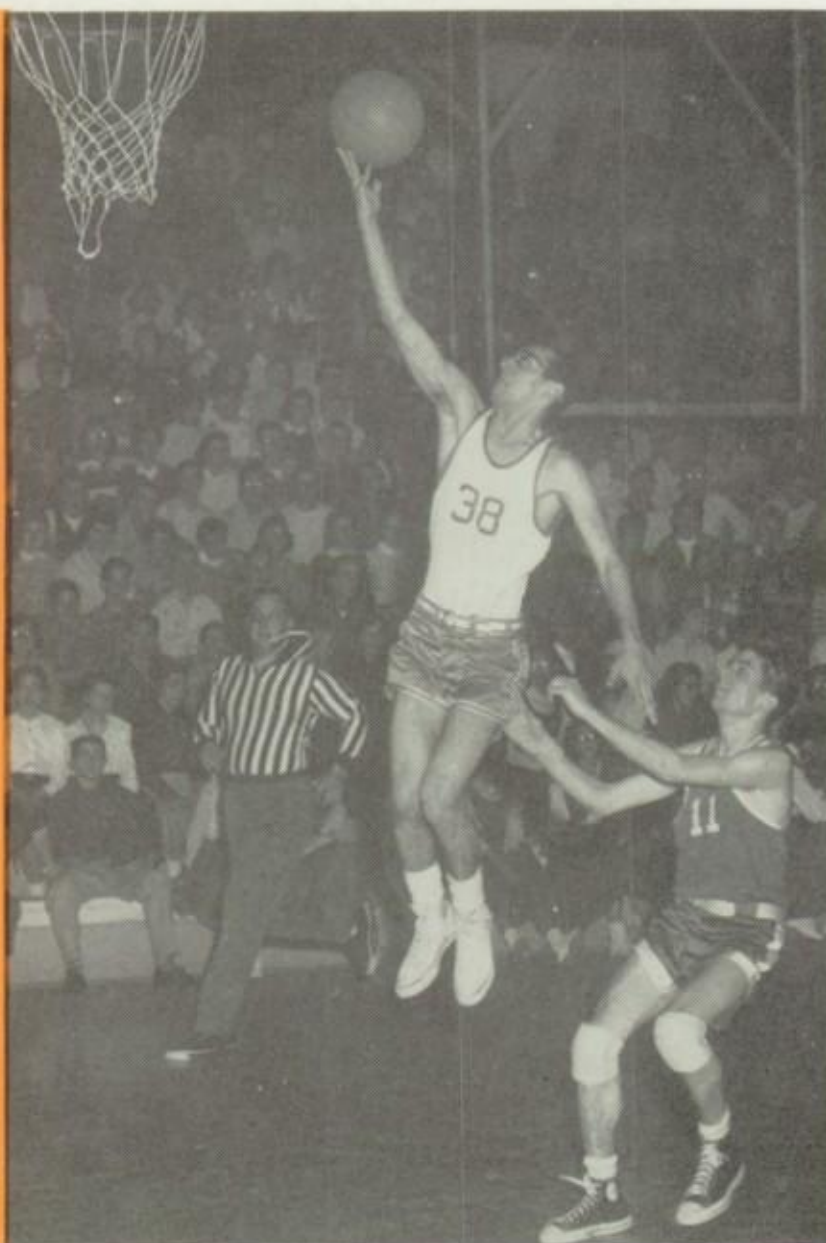

Stepping into the spotlight this year as the new varsity basketball coach was Mr. Canterna. He was graduated from Duquesne University, where he earned three varsity letters in basketball, played twice in the National Invitational Tournament and was elected captain of the team in his senior year. He has developed in his athletes a strong sense of principle and that same seriousness of purpose which has characterized him so prominently in all of his achievements.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

"A building year" was the term most frequently used to describe the 1956-1957 basketball campaign. Handicapped by inexperience, yet having a tremendous desire to learn, this squad displayed courage rarely seen in high school teams. Facing potential state champions game after game was a starting challenge to any team and demanded the utmost concentration and self-sacrifice.

Winding up a tough exhibition schedule with a record of six wins and four losses, the Wolverines proved that they had a team of better than average caliber. In league play Ellwood lost two to Farrell, poor shooting being the main factor in both defeats. In two exciting contests, the locals convincingly whipped a determined Ambridge team. Bob Timmerman had twenty-three points in the first encounter.

goal of the Ellwood five.

Judd Liebendorfer, with twenty-four points, led the Wolverines to a decisive victory over Beaver Falls in the Lincoln gym. The Tigers got revenge for their loss in a tight win over the locals on their home court.

Losing to Aliquippa in their poorest showing of the season, the Blue and White came back to give the Indians a run for their money before losing in the final seconds of the return skirmish. Out-manned and out-played, the Wolverines suffered two losses at the hands of Sharon, the eventual Section III champions.

The New Castle Hurricanes avenged their football defeat by taking the Wolverines in both basketball clashes. New Castle's flashy offensive was too much for the local five, resulting in two Ellwood losses. Judd Liebendorfer was high scorer for the Wolverines.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

Working hard to increase the prestige of Lincoln High's athletics in the future, the little Wolverines practiced diligently to prepare themselves for the tough varsity competition to come. Under the competent guidance of Mr. Spellman, these boys concentrated on perfecting fundamentals, the only way to insure complete success in any field.

Gathering experience, the Junior Wolverines dropped their first four games to two New Castle schools, George Washington and Ben Franklin, before whipping Ambridge and Monaca for their first two victories.

Again the locals hit a losing streak, as they were defeated by Aliquippa, Hopewell and Beaver Falls in succession. The Wolverines won four out of their last seven games to wind up the season with a six and ten record. Their victims were Midland, Monaca, Hopewell and Midland again, while their conquerors were Ambridge, Aliquippa and Beaver Falls.

The season's leading scorers were Raymond Fray with one hundred thirty-eight points and Raymond D'Ambrosio with seventy-one points.

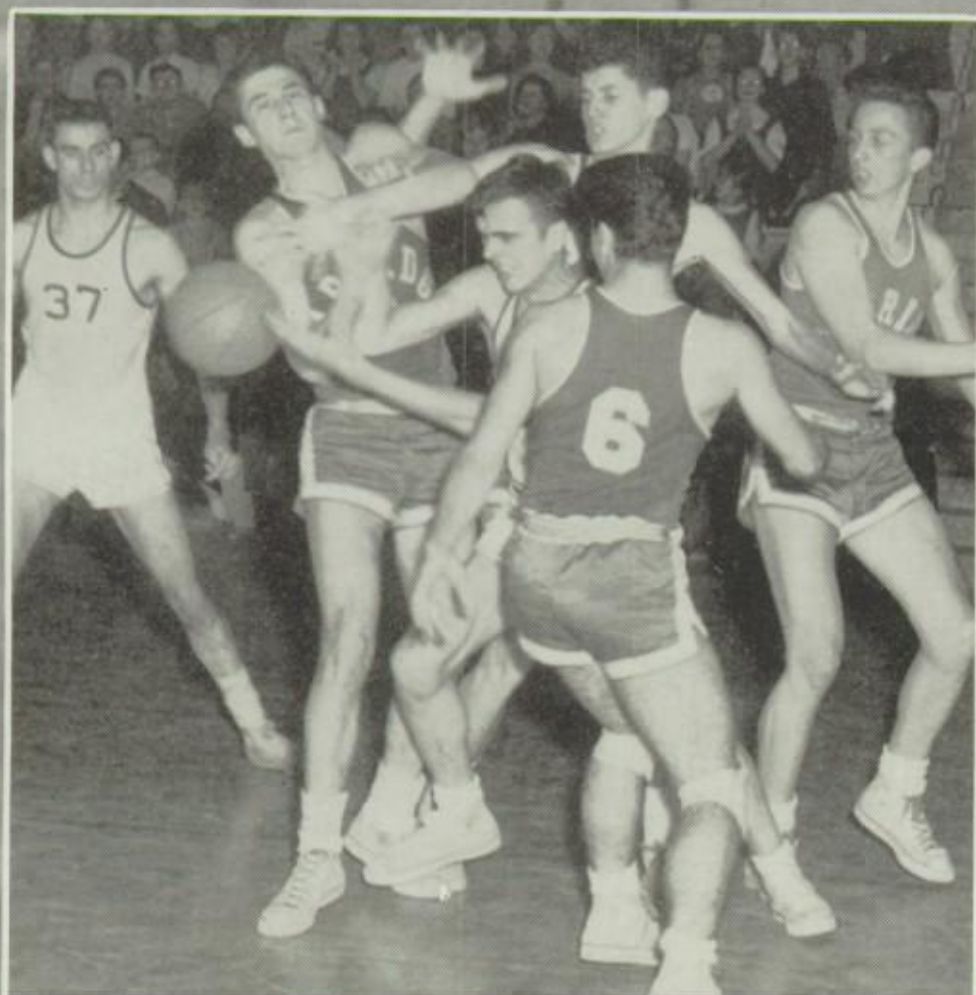

Ace Ellwood fire-baller, Joe Raman, got set to deliver against Beaver Falls at Ewing Park Stadium.

TRACK

The Wolverine track squad, under the watchful eyes of Coach Rogers, posted a fine season on the cinder paths. Opening the season at Midland, the Ellwood thincads suffered a tough setback. Although they placed first in five events they lacked a six-point margin, thus spelling victory for the Midlanders.

Retaliating from defeat the speedy Ellwood tracksters showed their heels to the Beaver squad. The Wolverines ripped up the cinders to place first in ten of the thirteen events. The final score was 73-40.

Demons on the diamond depicted accurately Lincoln High's Section VII champs. Piloted by the versatile Mr. Spellman, the team posted a season record of thirteen wins and three losses. Initiating this very successful year, the Ellwood nine opened their season at Ewing Park Stadium by downing Beaver Falls in a close contest by the score of 5-4.

The next visitors to the stadium were the Rochester players. The hits were equally distributed, but the Wolverines capitalized on the breaks and edged out a 3-1 victory. Not one to rest on their laurels, Spellman's nine batted out a 5-3 victory over the Aliquippa Indians for their third conquest in section competition.

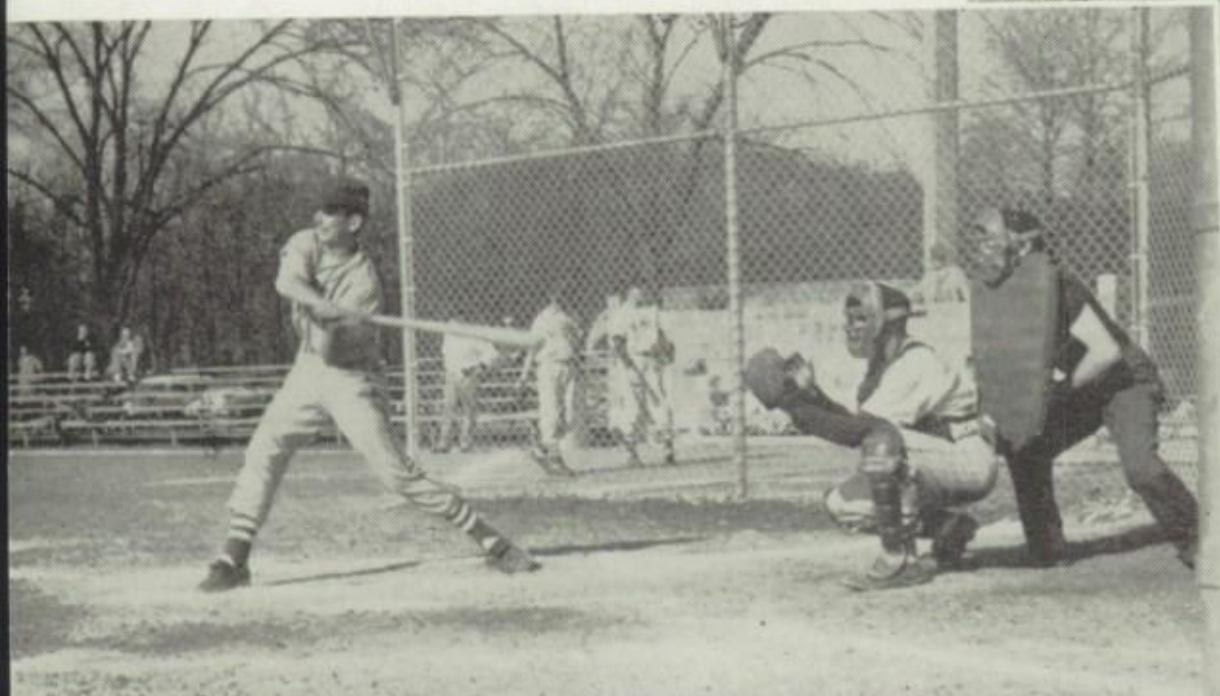

Moving to Ambridge the Wolverines' defensive ability showed brightly as they shut out the Bridgers, making it four wins in a row. Entering the second round of section seven rivalry, the Ellwood team lost their first game in league play to Beaver Falls. The 9-4 score was no indication of the type of ball the Wolverines played.

Bouncing back from defeat, our diamond nine ably handled Rochester to repeat their previous success in a 5-4 thriller. Aliquippa revenged their loss at the hands of the Lincoln High team by edging out a 3-1 victory in a game which showed a total of five hits.

In a real mound battle, Raman gave up only two hits, paving the way for Ellwood's final league victory over Ambridge. A 2-0 loss to Union in championship play marked the end of a prosperous season.

Moving to Farrell the Ellwood squad had their second loss. The Steelers dominated the field events leaving only the track events for the Wolverines. The Ellwood squad entered the Beaver County meet and chalked up a total of 15 points. The meet ended with the Wolverines in fifth position. At the Slippery Rock Regional Meet our Ellwood cinderbusters were not to be outdone. Individual honors were captured by Carnahan and Kirklin.

In their last regular meet, the Wolverines finished strong. Besides taking six firsts they captured three places in the 100 yard dash, the 220 and the 880, leaving Monaca on the short end of a 53 to 33 score. Ending their season at the Midland Invitational, the Ellwood tracksters placed third. The outlook for the 1957 season is good.

Varsity Club

Making its debut on the Lincoln High campus was the Varsity Club under the sponsorship of Mr. Knox and Mr. Gills. Membership in the club was exclusively for athletes who had earned a letter in a varsity sport.

Although it was not organized until the middle of the year the club made up for lost time. They sponsored the intramural home room basketball tournament and sold pep tags at all home basketball games. The supporting of various athletic charities and projects with the proceeds from the club's activities was one of the main objectives this year.

The club had an eventful year marked by the same spirit and co-operation that the members displayed while earning their varsity letters. This being the Varsity Club's first year its value has been proved by its prominent accomplishments.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

A splendid girls' athletic program was directed this year by Miss Kuben. Many diverse activities provided the girls with exercise and also taught them valuable lessons in poise and good conduct.

The senior high girls' activities consisted mainly of games such as basketball and volleyball. In contrast to this was a program for the junior high girls containing various co-ordination tests and gymnastic skills.

As the year ended a great deal had been accomplished in the developing of well-adjusted minds, healthful bodies and teamwork, basic essentials for better living.

CHEERLEADERS

The most noteworthy exponents of school spirit and enthusiasm were the varsity cheerleaders. As Lincoln High's most devoted fans, these girls carried a great responsibility. Much of their free time was spent practicing and creating cheers, which resulted in the ultimate gain of loyal supporters. With the assistance of Mr. Shepley they organized, timed and supervised the pep rallies.

Exemplifying the highest aspects of loyalty and courage, these girls served as constant reminders of the type of support our varsity teams received even when defeat was almost inevitable. In addition, new cheering techniques were invented to maintain student interest.

Following in their footsteps were the very capable and spirited reserve cheerleaders. They too participated in senior high pep rallies and practiced long and hard. Serving as an inspiration for the junior varsity squads, these girls emulated their elder sisters to a remarkable degree. Their same undying loyalty and ardor won the hearts of the spectators.

THE SPIRIT OF THE "ELLWOOD, ELLWOOD" CHEER ROUTINE, AS LED BY OUR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS, GAVE THE PROPER ATMOSPHERE FOR MANY PEP RALLIES.

Reynolds, C. Hall.

Not to be outdone was a fine group of junior high cheerleaders. Unique cheers and gay smiles came naturally to these vivacious young ladies. As the newest member of the cheering groups, they proved their ability through fine cheers marked by fiery spirit. The junior high pep rallies gave an example of the enthusiasm which will be the pattern in future years.

The hopes and desires displayed by these girls shall linger long in the hearts of the fans and in the minds of the students they represented.

School patterns completed; life patterns began.

THE YEAR'S SUMMARY

When bobby socks have turned to apron strings, and football stadiums and basketball courts have been abandoned in favor of an easy chair, our thoughts will turn from time to time to the days when we were students at Lincoln High School.

. the way we fussed about excessive homework assignments and later realized their importance. . . those pre-class conferences with friends that would decide our fates, who our next date would be. . it seemed to us we were an indispensable part of Lincoln High because of our walk-on roles in plays. . being one of a musical ensemble. . . decorating for a dance. . . painting strips of wallpaper with pep mottoes. . . giving all we had to bring victory and glory to our alma mater. . all these experiences were enriched through association with fellow students.

Commencement completed the pattern of high school days, but the memories of youthful escapades will be relived in our minds again and again.

To my precious Darling,
Whose charming voice strikes my ear like the sound of a silver chime and Whose tender words quell my anger and send pulsating waves of contentment
Over my troubled heart. Whose gentle caresses Numbless my soul with happiness. Love is
Our destiny and to that end I pledge
My life, my love, my all. Remember always, only the happiness I have tried to bring to you and ward off of your heart any unpleasantness that I may might have caused both in the past and in times yet unseen. You shall never know the happiness you have given to me and for all these reasons I shall love you eternally.

With Love That
Endures Time and Circumstance
